

Investment Objective Achieving long term capital growth in real terms and steadily increasing income. Our aim is to achieve a higher rate of total return than the FTSE Actuaries All-Share Index Total Return through investing in a diversified portfolio of stocks.

Fund Managers' Comments

In October, the net asset value (on a cum income basis with debt at fair value) fell 4.8%, underperforming the FTSE All-Share benchmark which fell 4.1%.

UK equity markets saw a 'flight to safety' in October as a result of heightened geopolitical and economic uncertainty. This caused defensive sectors such as utilities and consumer staples to outperform, and (for related reasons) larger companies within the FTSE 100 materially outperformed small and medium sized companies. For this portfolio this detracted from relative returns, as the portfolio holds an overweight position in small/medium sized UK companies relative to the FTSE All-Share benchmark, as well as an overweight position in some cyclical sectors such as financials and industrials. In the Fund Manager's view, the best valuation opportunity currently lies in small and medium sized, often domestic businesses. This is where sentiment is currently very poor and valuations are often at steep discounts to their long-run average.

The transactions during the month reflected the Fund Manager's views that the UK currently presents the best value opportunity. The largest sales included (US listed) semiconductor equipment manufacturer Applied Materials and heavy equipment manufacturer Caterpillar. These sales funded additions to UK holdings such as building materials company Sigmaroc, brick manufacturer Ibstock and cardboard packaging producer DS Smith.

◀◀ Company specific risks

Important information ▶▶

Company specific risks

- This trust is suitable to be used as one component in several in a diversified investment portfolio. Circa 21 per cent. of the net asset value (NAV) of trust's portfolio is an investment in an independent professional service company. Investors should consider carefully the proportion of their portfolio invested into this trust.
- Active management techniques that have worked well in normal market conditions could prove ineffective or detrimental at other times.
- The trust could lose money if a counterparty with which it trades becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the trust.
- Shares can lose value rapidly, and typically involve higher risks than bonds or money market instruments. The value of your investment may fall as a result.
- The return on your investment is directly related to the prevailing market price of the trust's shares, which will trade at a varying discount (or premium) relative to the value of the underlying assets of the trust. As a result losses (or gains) may be higher or lower than those of the trust's assets.
- The trust holds an investment in the IPS business which are wholly owned subsidiaries and private shares.
- If a trust's portfolio is concentrated towards a particular country or geographical region, the investment carries greater risk than a portfolio diversified across more countries.
- The trust may use gearing as part of its investment strategy. If the trust utilises its ability to gear, the profits and losses incurred by the trust can be greater than those of a trust that does not use gearing.
