Fund objective

Our objective is to achieve long term capital growth in real terms and steadily increasing income. The aim is to achieve a higher rate of total return than the FTSE All-Share Index through investing in a portfolio diversified both geographically and by industry.

Fund managers' comments

James Henderson

December was a good month for the Trust in absolute terms, although it underperformed its benchmark. The net asset value rose 3.0% on a total return basis (using debt at fair value) versus the FTSE All-Share which rose 4.8%. Within this a fall in bond yields meant our debt was revalued upwards and this was a drag on returns; keeping debt at par the net asset value rose 3.2%.

The largest positive contributor to returns was Brazilian aircraft manufacturer Embraer. This had been a poor performer up until recently, as the market for business jets has remained weak since the financial crisis. In December, however, news emerged of a potential tie up with Boeing. This is encouraging as it shows there is genuine value in what Embraer are producing. The largest actively held detractor from performance was private equity fund Better Capital. This reported disappointing results in which they had to further write down their stake in windows installer Everest.

A small new position was added in Mirriad Advertising, a spin-out from one of our existing holdings, IP Group. Mirriad has the ability to retrospectively place adverts in existing video content; a valuable technology given the ability of most consumers now to fast forward advert breaks. While current sales are low, we think they have the ability to quickly accelerate over the next few years. We continue to gently rotate the portfolio away from companies that are trading on high valuation multiples versus history. This month this included reducing the position in insurer Hiscox.
